WALKERVILLE SECONDARY SCHOOL

WINDSOR, ONTARIO

The theme of this year's yearbook is PARTICIPATION. Here at Walkerville, there are many things in which you are able to participate. For instance, the Blue & White yearbook, the Agora, the annual light opera presentation, various sports, and this year, a group of students participated in a trip to Quebec.

There are some people who go to school at 8:55 and leave at 3:05. These students, who join nothing, don't know what high school is really about. Then, there are others who join everything. These are the students who DO know what high school life is like.

Flip through the remainder of the yearbook and see if you are a 9:00-3:00 person, or one who joins everything.

As last year's theme was "NOTHING WITHOUT WORK", I'd like to say that going to Walkerville is, "NOTHING WITHOUT PARTICIPATION."

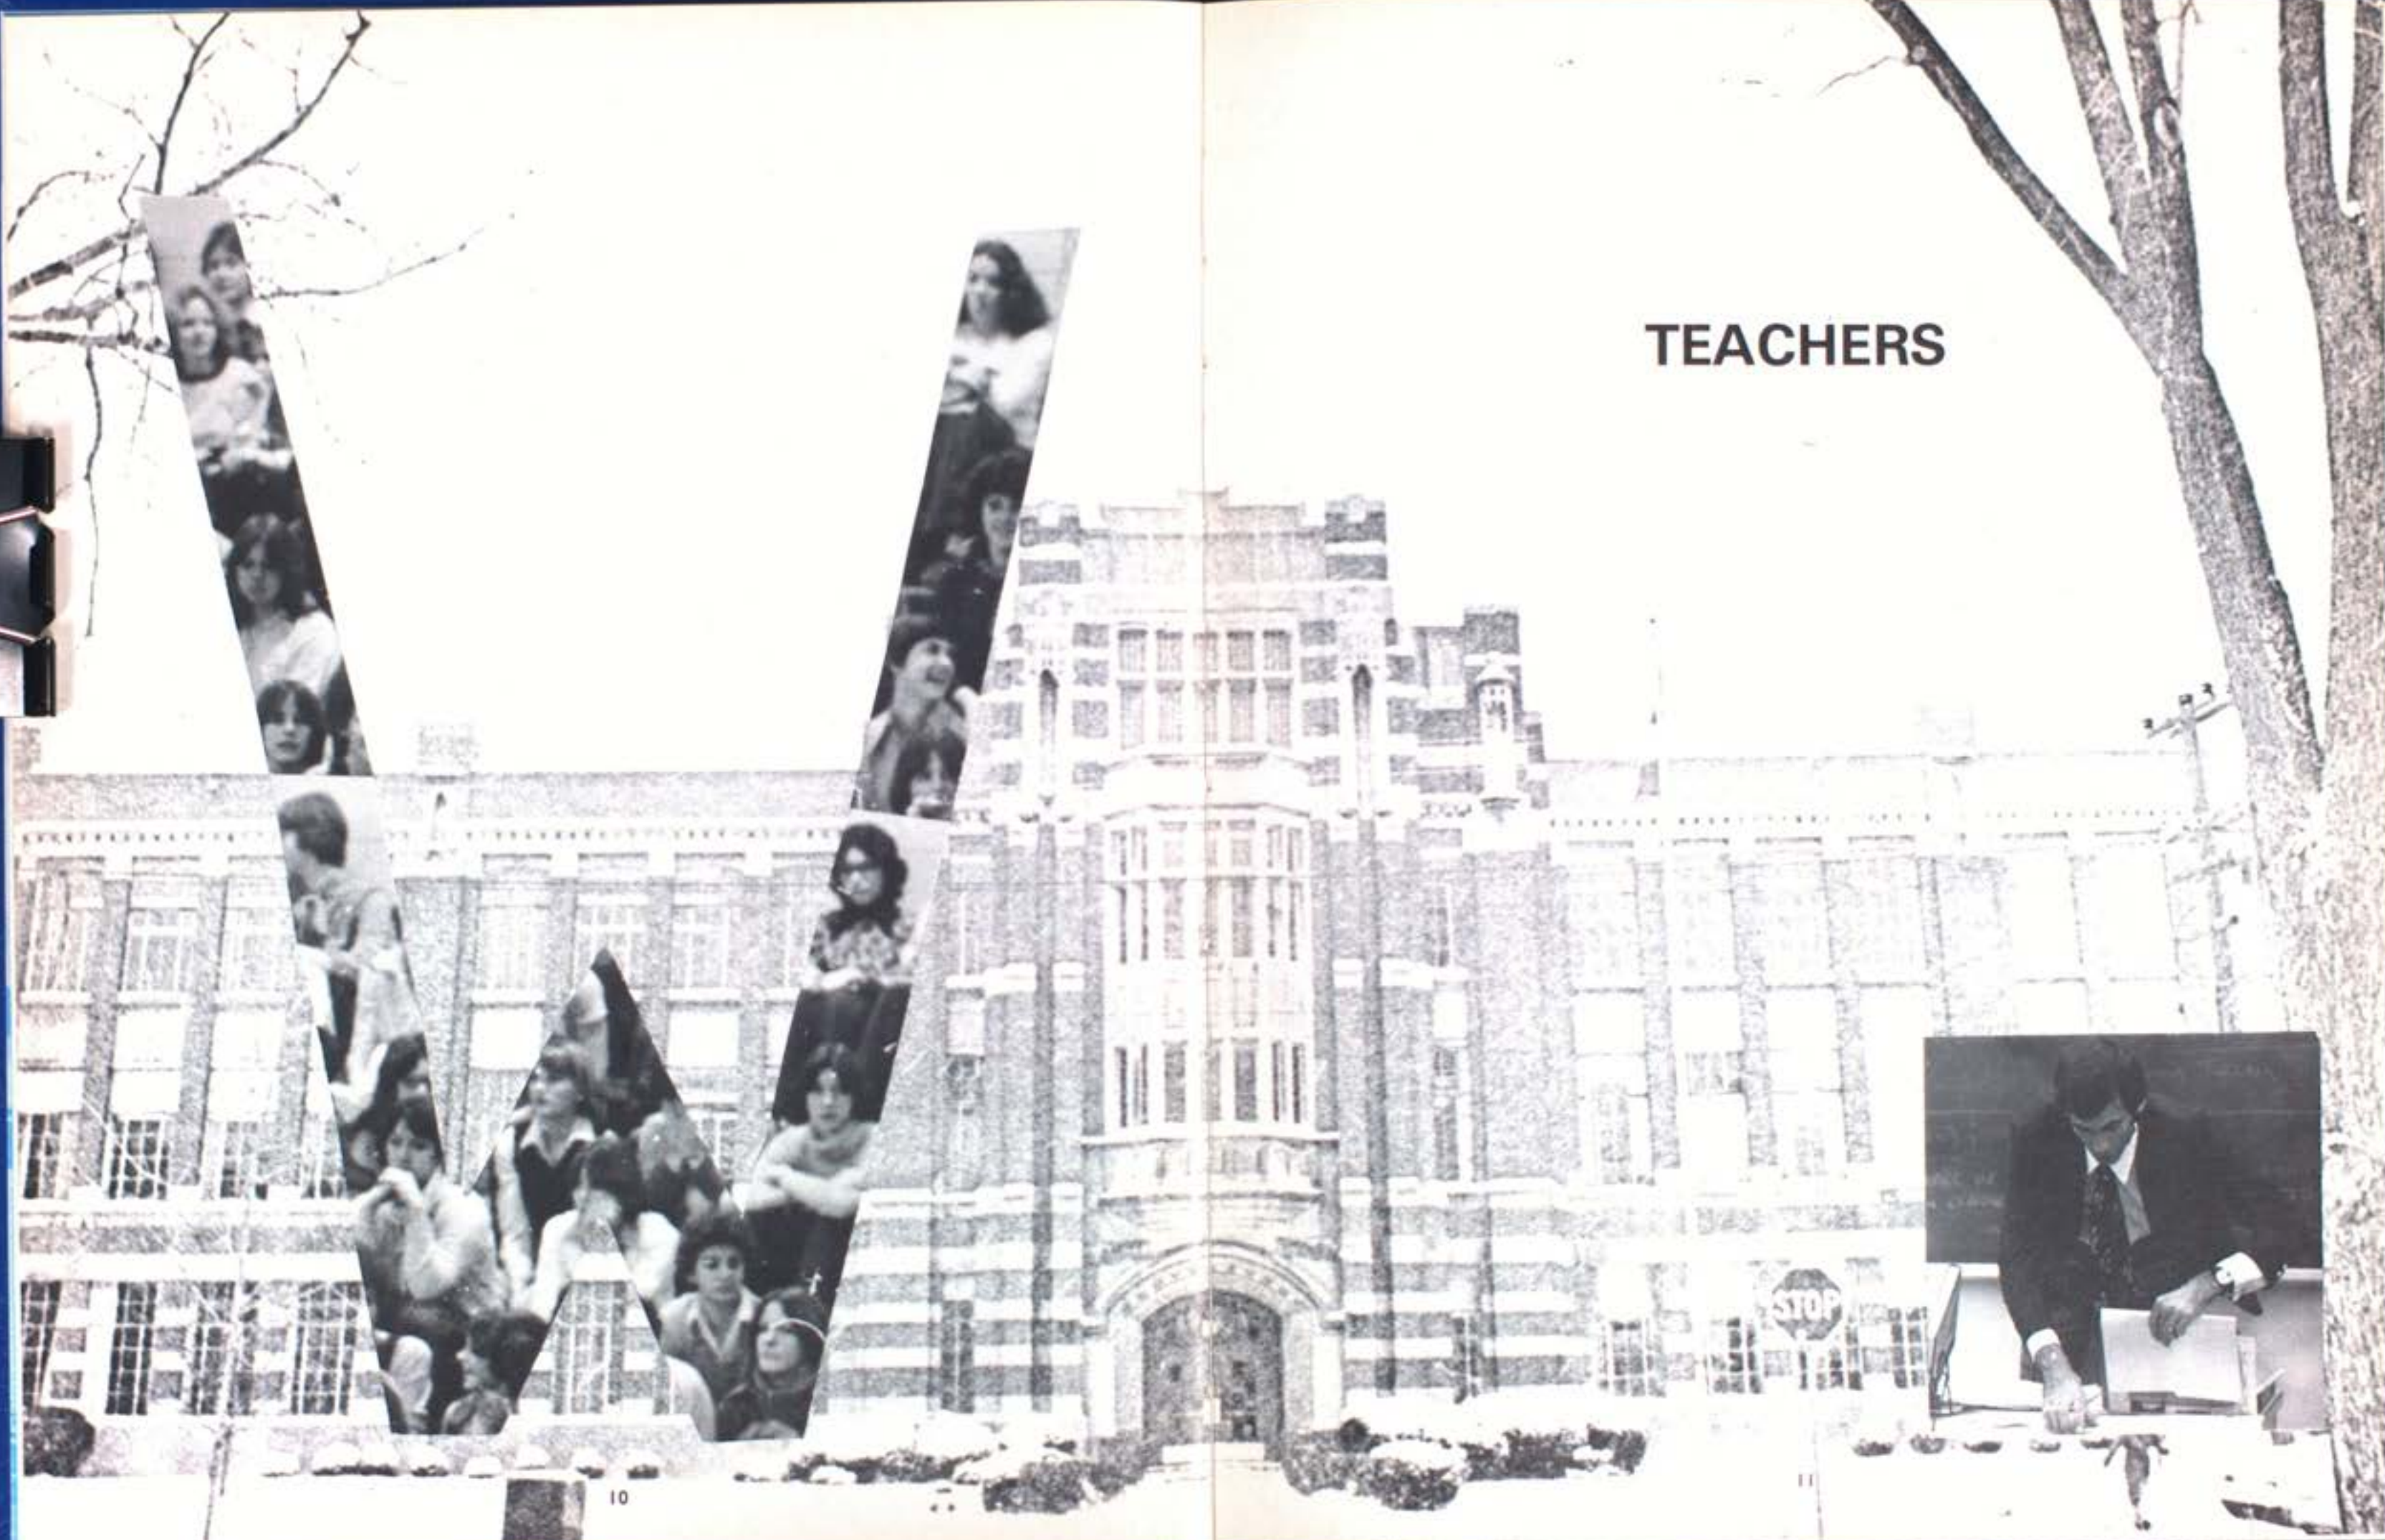

TEACHERS

THE MAN AT THE TOP . . .

As you look back on this year at Walkerville, you will have thoughts on your involvement with your studies, extracurricular activities and the benefits derived.

The goals and beliefs which you have developed, broaden the possibilities of arousing ambitions and ideals, in aiding you in making critical decisions. The making of friends and the development of human relationship was an integral part of your every day life. Dedication to your studies with high purpose, efficient work habits have developed within you a sense of high standards and the will to succeed.

Walkerville has a right to be proud of you and you of Walkerville, for it is here that you have laid the foundation for your future. Through your efforts this has been a very good year.

* — Assumed the Principalship at Walkerville

In my three years as vice-principal at Walkerville I have been most impressed by the student vitality which has characterized Tartan academic accomplishments, student government, musical performances, sporting successes, and Blue And White publications.

Congratulations are extended to all who have given of themselves so that the stream of student life at Walkerville could flow in its traditional, creative way.

A GENIUS LEARNS FROM NATURE

— Josh Billings

As we begin our journey through the land of geography, we come upon two large mountains approximately seven feet high. These mountains are quite talented as they know how to play guitar and they can actually keep the Walkerville students under control. These mountains go by the names of Mercer and Swierenga. We must take into consideration that these landmarks are severely undernourished and must visit the quarries to stock up their brains. The one mountain known as Mt. Mercer keeps cool in any situation, especially when old man weather rains on his tennis team. The ridge of Swierenga keeps himself occupied with mountain music and Agora activities.

We now cross the mountain range to the great hockey rinks of life where we find our third and final landmark, with a bag of hockey equipment in one hand and a pamphlet of Stroh's Brewery in the other. This teacher is known as Molehill Kuszowski.

The moral of this story is:
You can't make a mountain out of a molehill!!!

HISTORY: THE BIOGRAPHY OF GREAT MEN.

Mr. Nicodemo, Mr. Cousineau, Mr. Curry, Miss Falls, Mr. Dettilo.

We must consider how very little history there is; I mean real authentic history. That certain kings reigned, and certain battles were fought, we can depend upon as being true; but all the coloring, all the philosophy of history, is conjecture.

SECRETARIES

Zilda McKelvie, Mary Master, Marilyn Bulat, Hilda Patrick.

If it is a class you miss,
The secretaries sure will hiss.
If you have a good excuse,
They will let you on the loose.
The Sec's put up with all the fads,
They're always nice but rarely mad.
So when things get a little hairy,
Think about the secretaries.
Late slips really are the pits,
Detention threats bring on some fits.
But we know the girls are fair,
As they struggle, pulling their hair.

I FINALLY GOT IT ALL TOGETHER . . .

STOP! HAVE BOOKS INSPECTED HERE.

Reading books in one's youth is like looking at the moon through a crevice; reading books in middle age is like looking at the moon in one's courtyard; and reading books in old age is like looking at the moon on an open terrace. This is because the depth of benefits of reading varies in proportion to the depth of one's own experience.

EAT RIGHT WITH BEAVER

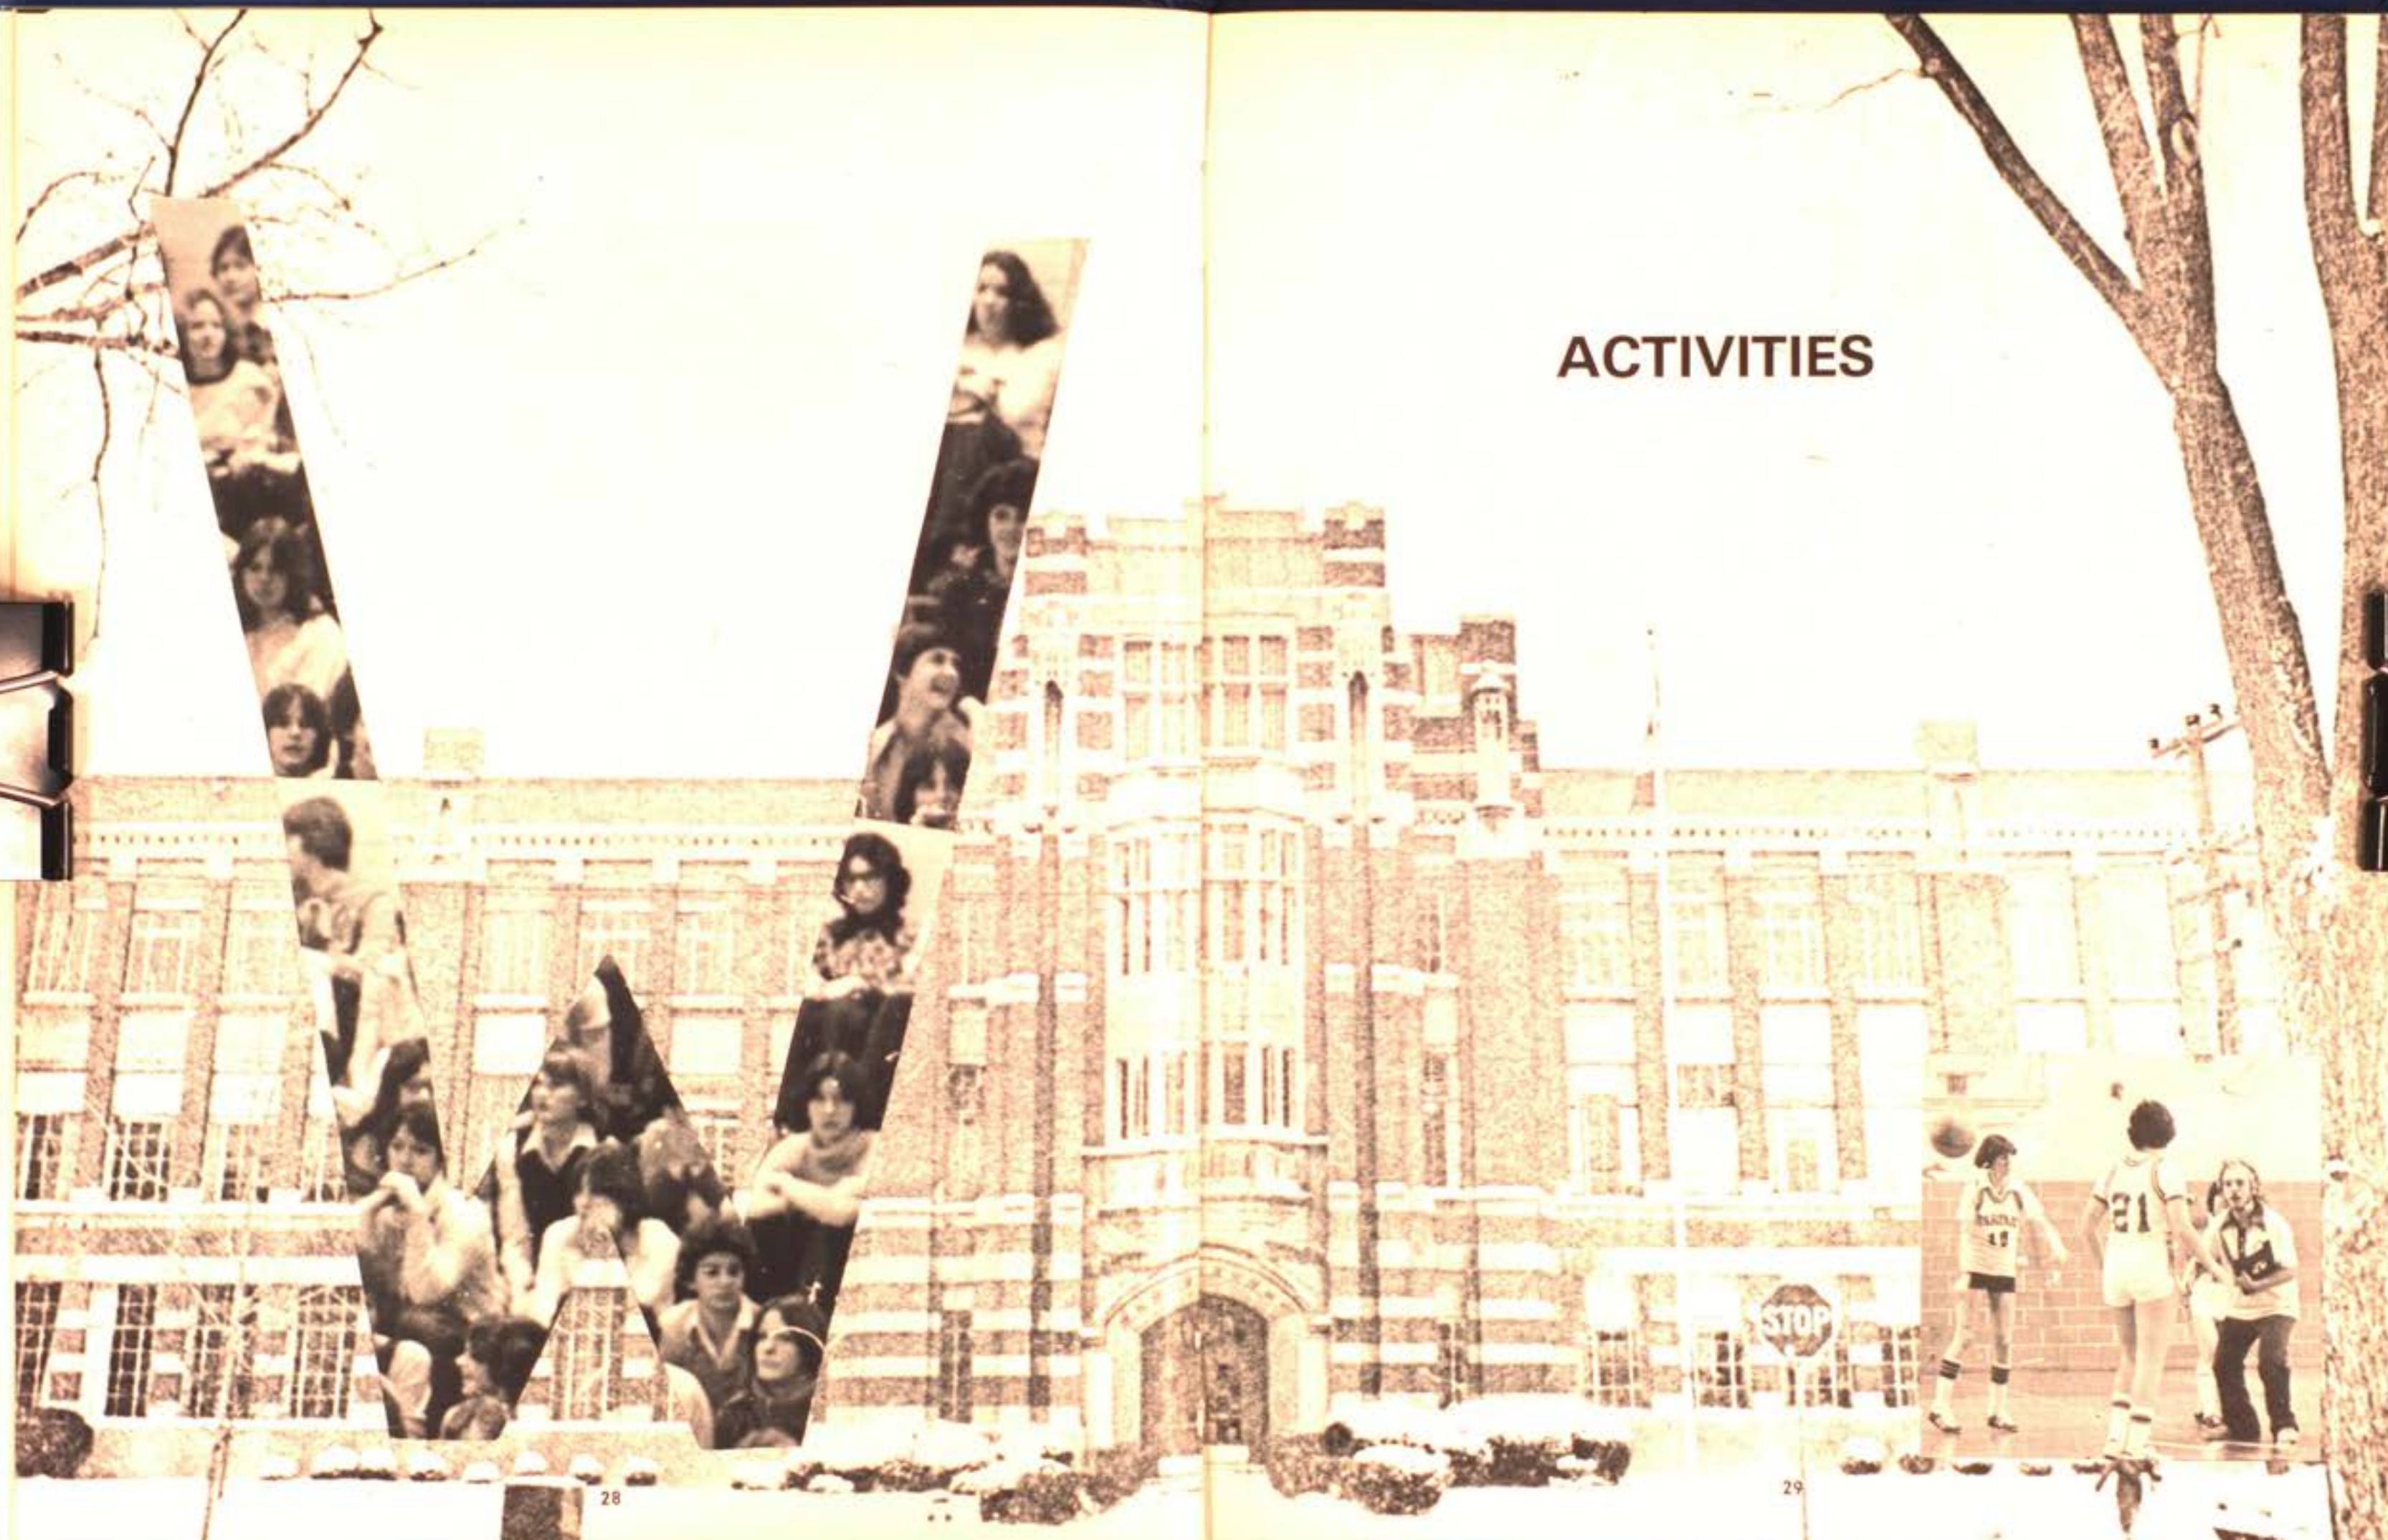

Tired of stale peanut butter sandwiches? So it would seem from an observer's view. Each day, hundreds of students are fed delicious items, thanks to the five lovely ladies from Beaver Foods. Whether you're in the mood for some junk food or care about nutrition, Beaver Foods is there to deplete your appetite.

They say a good student has a good appetite. If this is true, then Walkerville students must be among the smartest (if not, the best fed, anyway!).

ACTIVITIES

DUE TO FAST APPROACHING

Donna Ilic, Ken Little, Dave Belmore, Julie Baldwin, Martin Young, Mrs. Pac-Urar, Robin Casey, David Cornett, Karen Marleau, Kim Law, Don Clapper, Nancy Zebeljan. Absent: Tom Bauer, Rosanne Piscitelli, Ann Kirin, Kim Chittim.

When did you say that deadline was?

DEADLINE, WE HAVE NO HEADLINE

I'd like to start this off by saying that this year has been the most "interesting" one I've spent at Walkerville. After receiving the position of Editor of the Blue and White yearbook, I set out to do the best job possible. With the help of Tom Bauer, the advertising editor, Julie Baldwin, Karen Marleau, Nancy Zebeljan, Martin Young, Kim Law, Donna Ilic, Ann Kirin, Dave Belmore, and Ken Little, who all did layouts, wrote headlines, copy, etc., I feel that I have succeeded. Also, nothing would be in front of you except white pages had it not been for the yearbook photographers, Don Clapper, Rosanne Piscitelli (who spent the last part of exam week in the darkroom developing and printing), Scott Henderson, and Ian Geddes.

Who can forget the secretaries? "Can you call Sr. Boys' Volleyball for their picture?" "Can we put these pictures in the teachers' mailboxes?" Thanks Mrs. Patrick, Zilda, Mary and Marilyn.

Thanks also to Mr. Swierenga for putting up with my being late for first period all year.

Thanks Mr. Aitken for answering questions such as, "Can we sell popcorn at the Level V graduation?" and "Will you have your copy ready for Monday?" Mr. Techko, thank you for your idea about the past vice-principals of the school.

The biggest and most important "THANK-YOU" goes, of course, to Mrs. Pac-Urar. Without her guidance, this yearbook would never have gotten off the ground. Thanks!

THANKS TO EVERYONE WHO WORKED ON THE BOOK. IT WAS FUN!

I want you the students to know how much I've appreciated your support and friendship throughout the year. We've had our rough times but it has been through them I've learned that enthusiasm makes the difference! Our activity nights and dances, assemblies and announcements would never have been appealing to you if it hadn't been for those enthusiastic people behind them. By going in with a positive attitude they were able to come out on top.

There's a verse in the Bible that tells us, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." To me, that means if you enter a project, a relationship or school with a positive attitude, a smile on your face, with enthusiasm your results will be far greater than you ever imagined possible. But what about those times when things just aren't going your way; a dance doesn't go over, you lose money in an event, or your club has no funds? Another verse tells us: "Knowing this that the trying of your faith worketh patience." In essence, keep your head up, keep smiling, believe in what you are doing and enthusiasm is ignited.

I've also discovered that you have to learn to work together and give of yourself. Each one of you has something that only you can contribute, only you have. Take that particular quality, enlarge upon it whether it be in athletics, scholastics, or student organizations. You are all special — unique to Walkerville.

This being my last year would you please do something for me and for yourself? Take interest in your school, be proud of your school, be enthusiastic about your school!

I want to close with one verse of a song that sums up what I've tried to say to you all year.

"I wish for you my friend,
This happiness that I've found.
You can depend on Him
It matters not where you're bound.
I'll shout it from the mountain-top,
I want my world to know
The Lord of love, has come to me,
I want to pass it on."

Thank-you again for making this year for me — a very special one.
Friendship and prayers always,
Laurie Brack

"BRIGADOON"

"Once in the highlands, the highlands of Scotland, two American hunters lost their way . . ." When they could not read their map they discovered a phenomenal little town called Brigadoon which had a mysterious history. It awoke every one hundred years for one day and then slept again. The two hunters met girls from this intriguing hamlet, and fell in love. . . and this is what happened, two weary hunters, who lost their way."

Brigadoon has a difficult plot and theory to communicate with an audience, but with the direction of Mr. B. Curry, Miss DeMarco, and Mrs. Thurgood, we met with smooth sailing. Mr. Curry carried most of the load involving blocking, singing, and orchestral conducting. This year a pleasant addition to the production staff proved helpful. Miss Mary Jean DeMarco collected the chorus and began rehearsing their charming voices back in September. Thanks goes to Mrs. Thurgood for her original ideas dealing with the libretto and singing of leads.

Speaking of leads, a more closely knit tartan has not yet been at our school. With the strong charisma and encouragement from Jeff Branch, Colleen Fairley, Dewar Laing, Pat Hennessey, Peter Budd, Linda Krzeminski, Greg Novini, Rick Churchill, Ray Swanson, (anyone else?) . . ., the chorus was inspired to sing and dance their hearts out. The chorus this year was great and lost more weight than any other chorus. Why the weight loss? Because Pat Hennessey, our choreographer, developed the dances and the set actions to this performance. It can be said that Pat Hennessey has been an extra special choreographer in Walkerville Light Opera history!

Along the notes of music, we were pleased to have the tartan talent shine through with the crisp drones of bagpipes. Our Light Opera Orchestra which has always been 'in previous years' great, played better than ever thanks to Mr. Curry (who has a little feel for music).

Certainly our lighting under Brad Saunder's direction lit up the excellent set and backdrops which Goran Milosevic and Dewar Laing designed respectively. Thanks goes to the backstage crew who stayed home from Florida to hammer nails! Goran told us to beg, borrow or steal to get our materials; and believe me, we did.

Advertising by Rick Churchill and Bill Lukas through radio stations, posters and CBET's Insight, sold our polished product to the public.

Thanks goes to everyone who participated so actively in making BRIGADOON such a success! — BREAK A LEG!

SPELUNKERS: YABBA-DABBA-DOO!

Our club consists of approximately 30 members. Throughout the year we try many fund-raising schemes, to raise enough money to help us make a trip to West Virginia possible. While in West Virginia, we explore many vast and intriguing caves. Camping out and getting to know and live with people of our own age group is another aspect of our club. This trip is one of adventure and fun and experience we will never forget.

Quest

Come with me on a journey,
To a place where no one's been before.
This place where things you wanted to be,
Can be forever more.
Upon this journey you will see,
Things you want will come naturally.
White sands and blue skies,
That somehow hypnotise your eyes.
Green grass and yellow flowers,
There are no minutes — There are no hours.
So remove your mask, and the task,
That any human might ask.
'Cause the Forest Maiden will take your hand,
And lead you through this glorious land.
She'll give you things you can't explain,
To anyone that is sane.
Upon this journey you will find,
It is a journey to your mind.
To know is good, to hold is best,
So lay your hand down to rest,
For now it's time for the Sand Man's Quest.
To bring you far, to a star.
And you will know if it is a dream or an illusion.

A MOMENT'S REFLECTION

From her third floor apartment, in one of the oldest parts of town, she listened and watched while the children played in the street. It was a pleasantly warm spring day and all the neighbourhood children were occupied with their games of make-believe and fun. As she watched their movements and heard their cries of joy, her mind transported her thoughts to another place and time.

Her eighty years of life had been filled with much pain, but there were also many happy moments to be cherished. She had outlived two husbands and three children. Each of their departures from life had left her with a certain emptiness, but with a much greater love of life.

Her first husband was killed in the war and the other died just a few years ago. Neither of her children had been allowed to live past the age of twenty-five, so now she sat alone in her apartment and re-lived the pleasant memories of the past.

A smile flickered across her face as a knock on the door cut short her contemplations. She closed her eyes for a moment of rest before she would struggle to open the door for her visitor. She died in peace for she had lived a full and happy life.

Josephine Stark

The Beginning

The bleak gloom which had descended late in the evening,
Still remained in early morn
But across the ocean of blackness in the sky
Flickered faint flashes of dawn.
As the dark loneliness of night disappeared,
It left behind it a huge mass of blazing fire.
And as it climbed higher and higher into the sky
The scarlet hue from within, slowly faded from sight
Leaving only a bright, golden blinding miracle,
To finally reach its peak,
And we beheld, the rising sun.

Ingrid Riegl

Thoughts

She wishes she could understand this almost self-destructive force inside
That even at this moment makes her shrink and want to hide.
That prevents her from relating to people as she knows she should,
It's a gnawing pain that says she can't when she knows she could.
Her moody thoughts turn her soul different shades of blackened coal,
And where there once was love she feels a sickening empty hole
That feeds itself upon her fear and the secrets she cannot confide,
That will stay with her each waking day until her mind has died.

Karen Wilson

WRITING

A GLIMMER OF HOPE

For the past month she had lived in dreaded fear of this moment. Today her bandages were to be removed. If there was no light after their removal, she knew she would never see again.

Even as a child her greatest fear had been that of darkness. Now as a woman, this fear still remained. Though it had been quiet for the past month, the anticipation and importance of this day awoke this fear with renewed strength.

If she had only been more careful that night, the accident would never have happened. She should have stayed at her friend's house instead of insisting to drive home in that rainstorm. She had been very tired, but when she realized how tired she really was, it was too late to turn back. As she made the last turn onto her street, the car went into an uncontrollable skid and smashed into a tree. The next day she was told that she may never regain her sight.

She felt her heart begin to pound louder and louder, as the nurse led her into the examining room. The nurse sat her down and told her that the doctor would be in in a moment.

When the doctor arrived, he gave her a few words of assurance and began to take the bandages off slowly. The sound of her heart echoed in her mind as she began to open her eyes. She saw a faint light at first, then her eyes began to come into focus. She would never have to be afraid of the dark.

Josephine Stark

Great men have walked along the sands of these uneven shores
Their footsteps never to be erased by the wandering waves of the sea.
Many have followed their well-worn path;
Still others plodded their course anew
Yet each of them, as they travelled their way;
As they crossed the burning sands of the beach
Left behind them on this timeless shore
Their footprints; Their mark of the course that they had
Freely chosen to take, and suffer, so that mankind
Might benefit.

With my courage gathered about me like a shield of armour
I too followed in the footsteps of these great men,
Only to find that my traces were lost in those set down before me.

We had such a great team this year,
 And Manager MacGibbon really held up the rear.
 Raniwsky, Silvaggi, and Gatfield were tough
 While Klein, Kolodjieski and Kouts got rough.
 Stomp and Rumble showed their own coach skill,
 And the whole team had that winning will.

SOCCER . . .

Tartans now enter Southwestern Ontario Secondary Schools Association playoff competition, facing Leamington in a sudden-death semi-final game at Leamington Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

The winner will face the Kent County winner in the SWOSSA final.

In last night's consolation final, Steve Crampsie's goal with two minutes remaining lifted Riverside to a 2-1 win over Massey.

Matt McClearie of Riverside and Mike Mueller of Massey had scored earlier goals.

Jim Geier's goal two minutes into the second half turned out to be the only score of the game Thursday as Walkerville claimed its second straight Windsor Secondary Schools Association soccer championship with a 1-0 win over Kennedy at Wigle Park.

It was the Tartans' 11th victory in as many starts this spring. They've gone 20 games without a loss through two seasons and have a string of 31 regular-season games without a defeat — 27 wins and four ties.

Geier's goal came directly from a corner kick by Pero Kovacevic. Geier headed the ball into the net.

The shutout was recorded by Mark Hillis.

Q Has it really been proved that cigarette smoking causes disease?

A Yes. No major medical or health agency questions the facts. Cigarette smoking is a major cause of emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer, and heart disease.

Q Doesn't it take years of smoking to cause any damage?

A No. Just one cigarette speeds up your heartbeat, increases your blood pressure, upsets the flow of blood and air in your lungs. Studies of teenagers who smoke show they have more breathing problems and more coughing than nonsmoking teenagers.

THINK

Some people keep their organization strong
While others join and just belong;
Some dig right in, some serve with pride,
Some go along just for the ride.
Some volunteer to do their share
While some lay back and just don't care;
On meeting dates some always show
While there are those who never go.
Some always pays their dues ahead
Some get behind for months instead;
Some do their best, some build, some make,
Some never give, but always take.
Some lag behind, some let things go,
Some never help their organization grow;
Some drag, some pull, some don't some do.
