WE'RE WALKERVILLE AND WE'RE MOVING UP!

You bet we're moving up! You cannot only tell from the attitudes of the students individually but also from the attitude of the student body as a whole. We have shown that if we all work together any goal can become an accomplishment. Our senior and junior cheerleading squads have proven this by capturing first and second places respectively in the city wide championship. The junior boys' volleyball team placed first in the city adding yet another sense of fulfillment to the spirit of Walkerville. All around us we see signs of improvement. The environmental club has done a fantastic job with their murals and bulletin boards. By adding new teachers to our already terrific staff, we have added a breath of fresh air to the school. Everyone works together and things get done.

In this edition of the Blue and White I hope the different aspects of our school will all add up to show you how Walkerville is moving up!

The good, the bad and the ugly of our music department.

"Whose ideas was it to get us all back together in this 'place' after we worked so hard to get out?"

Helen Daskalakis, our valedictorian at the grade twelve graduation, started off her speech on a rather light note. She continued in a more serious manner:

"As we look back on our personal and individual achievements, you can be sure, that as the class of 1980 we have left a profound mark in the history of Walkerville. Ever so gradually, without even realizing it, each and every one of us found our own niche. Some of us hit the books and became geniuses, others hit the sports field and became athletes, others found gymnastics and dance and became our award winning Cheerleaders, while still others initiated new trends in our curriculum by involving students, teachers, and the community in Spelunking, safer and more constructive activity nights, fashion shows, and our ever so popular WANGG IT!"

"We must realize that these past four years, these past four terribly frustrating, exciting, nerve wracking, but constantly changing years were the best that we could possibly have made them, and will always be looked back on as the best years of our lives."

"We learned that our parents and our teachers are human and that they deserve the love and the respect that they worked so hard to earn (I love you, Mom and Dad). We learned friendship, because never again will we have the chance to be child enough to accept people as individuals and adult enough to cultivate them."

"And this is why on a day as important as this, we choose to celebrate it with our parents, teachers and friends. Today we proclaim our capabilities, our achievements and our aspirations. I would like, on behalf of the student body, to say thank you to all those who nurtured us and saw us through the good times and the bad; a humble and respectful THANK YOU."

"And to my fellow students, biting your nails in worried frustration about your futures, know this: THE WORLD BEYOND THESE WALLS WILL OPEN DOORS OF OPPORTUNITY — ONLY IF WE KNOCK!"

Yearbook Message

On behalf of the student body and staff, my congratulations to the editors of this Yearbook, and to Mrs. Pac Urar your staff sponsor, for a large job well done! This book represents countless hours of effort and dedication, and will be treasured by all students of the school.

My first year as your Principal has been a very busy and enjoyable experience. Having been on the Staff of six Secondary Schools, I feel that I am in a position to state that all schools are unique. Walkerville's uniqueness is threefold. First, it is relatively small in enrolment. This factor is of tremendous value to staff and students, and accounts for the warmth of relationships established here. The second factor is the high degree of student involvement in the life of the school. Proportionally, more of you are involved in extra-curricular activities than the pupils of any other school I have been associated with. This factor is a very positive one. The third unique aspect has to do with the traditions upon which we build here at Walkerville. Almost sixty years of service to this community provides a solid base upon which to add to the lustre of this institution.

Given all of these positive aspects of the school we should all look forward to a great future for Walkerville Collegiate! Best personal wishes to all graduates who will be leaving us this year. We hope we have prepared you well for the future.

The Right Hand Man

This has been an exciting and rewarding year for me at Walkerville. I am very appreciative and impressed with the efforts of the students, staff and the volunteers involved in the extra-curricular activities which contribute to making Walkerville such a vibrant school.

This edition of the Blue and White will afford all of us an opportunity to reflect on the 1980-81 year with a sense of pride, accomplishment and personal satisfaction. The yearbook has captured most of the individuals involved in our school's activities. It is through these activities that students demonstrate their individual strengths and make valuable contributions to Walkerville Collegiate's spirit.

I also wish to congratulate all our graduates for their perseverance and efforts of the past and express my sincere wish for continued success in the future. We welcome you to the Walkerville Alumni and expect that you will maintain its excellent tradition of responsible citizenship.

What a figure!

"All for Walkerville stand up and holler!"

"Pilot to Co-pilot, clearing for take off."

The seniors wanted to carry on the tradition of the Walkerville Cheerleaders which is to place a sparkling trophy in the Walkerville trophy case. On March 14-81 the girls danced their way to "Funky Town" placing first against eight other teams.

Congratulations to all W.C.I. cheerleaders. The cheerleaders would like to thank Miss Pepper, Mr. Bondy and Mr. Lanspeary for their support and understanding throughout the year.

Karen would like to thank the girls for putting up with her temper and making this year interesting and a great deal of fun. Best of luck and wishes to all!

These girls brought spirit to our Junior games this year. Sometimes it's hard to get people to come out to watch the Juniors, but all along our Junior Cheerleaders were there to back them up. Thanks for your support and fine efforts, girls. It's appreciated more than you know!

This year was not only a pleasant, but also a very rewarding year for the Junior cheerleaders. They entered their first competition and with the support from Miss Pepper the juniors successfully placed second.

The 1980 Soccer team was possibly the finest ever, from Walkerville. These boys and one girl put out a fine effort at games and this eventually led them to a near victory in the finals. However, they were narrowly beaten by the Lowe Trojans with a final score of 4-1. The entire school was proud of them and they were commended for their efforts. Outstanding players from last season's team were Dan Gossmann (goalkeeper), Peter Bastasic, Dave Clanachan, Rick Jelusic, and David Koloff. Their success was guided by a fine coach, Mr. Hallpeet.

What A Racket

First Row: Nora Laing, Becky Kingston, Kathryn Knight, Cheryl House, Brad Radin. Second Row: Bridget Thorman, Mark Shuren, Ian Hutchieson, Jeff Taylor, Mr. Mercer. Absent: Dave Mahler, Tom Huszti, Tricia Roberts, Robert Steincke, Andrew Schumacher, Cynthia Laing, Sue Roberts.

WSSA competition in the fall was the first time in ten years Tartan players failed to win a title. This was despite the fact that Cheryl House, in girls singles, and the girls doubles team of Becky Kingston and Cynthia Laing both made it to the finals, before bowing out to Massey and Herman respectively.

Mixed doubles competition was especially strong this year so that our performance in this event was probably the best performance of any individual event.

Rookie, Jeff Taylor, and veteran, Bridget Thorman, teamed up well in defeating Forster and Assumption before losing out to Kennedy in the third round. Ian Hutchieson and Kathy Knight played probably the best tennis of the Tartan team in defeating Assumption and Centennial before losing a tough battle to Herman in the semi-finals.

The future looks good with a real infusion of new talent, especially among the boys, including Brad Radin, Jeff Taylor, Andrew Schumacher and a score of other grade nine boys who just missed selection.

Walkerville teams have traditionally done well in WSSA and SWOSSA competition despite the fact that each year the quality of play improves, especially in singles events where more and more junior tournament players are surfacing in schools throughout the city. Well intentioned beginners can only hope to enjoy the experience if their preparation consists only of a few warm-up drills beforehand. Like every other sport, tennis demands much time, preparation and serious skill development for anyone who hopes to be "best in the city." The current boys singles champion, for example, is in grade nine at Assumption and is ranked no. 1 in Canada in the under 14 age group.

This was definitely a rebuilding year for the Walkerville cross country team. We lost many of our good runners through graduation, academic load and interfering sports. Many new runners came out this year which gave us a fair team. With much practice and another year, our team should be excellent next year.

God, are these pants itchy!

Unfortunately, Walkerville's senior football team did not get off to a good start this season, losing the Pigskin Preview games to Assumption and Centennial. However, they didn't let us down and won two games over Forster. Pete Bastasic, Bob Mijovic, Don Cameron and Rick Jelusic are to be commended for their outstanding efforts. Special thanks go to Mr. Strong, Mr. Marin and Mr. Nicodemo for their fine coaching support. Better luck next year, guys!

We're no. 1! We're no. 1!

The "Young and the Restless"

Our junior football team had a very good season this year. They won 3 games and lost three. They even got as far as the semi-finals, but were, unfortunately defeated by Assumption. They proved to have an outstanding line-up and hopefully, with many of them moving up next year, our senior team will benefit. Mr. Rumble did a fine coaching job. Keep up the good work Juniors!

This year at the end of a grueling season the Junior Boys' Volleyball Team came back to Walkerville with the city championship. It, however, was not won by luck. The boys attendance in the morning and after school practices was all important. Under the valuable coaching of Mr. Swierenga the team's training and playing greatly improved.

The junior boys through their teamwork climbed their way to the semi-finals and then to the finals. In the final game against Brennan, which at times was close, the boys triumphed and caused a Brennan defeat. The trophy for the Junior Boys' Volleyball City Championship is now proudly displayed in our trophy case.

The Junior Girls' Volleyball team had a tough time this season. The girls tried very hard but only won four games out of nine. There seem to be some future Walkerville Volleyball stars on the team. Best of luck next year, girls. Special thanks to Mrs. Krenz for her fine coaching job.

We Make:

Our Senior Basketball team got off to a good start this season, however, things slowly changed as the season went on. The coaches were still pleased with the team's effort. If it weren't for the fine, understanding and concerned coaches and the ever-ready and willing Tartan basketball players they would not have had near their season standings. Better luck next year guys! Remember: Winning isn't everything: the team spirit is.

Junior Boys' Basketball

The Junior Boys had a very good season this year. All of the boys contributed their time and talent to the success of the team this year. There is even a chance that the boys might make it to the city championships. Three particular players must be commended for their valient efforts. They are Captain Gus Spanic, Co-Captain Ken Roughton and Jovo Oklobdzija.

Walkerville made a very good showing at last year's track and field meets. Over all, the team placed seventh in our division as SWOSSA. There were several excellent placings on opening day as well. Chris Brookbanks set a record of 14 seconds in the Midget Boys 100 metre hurdles. He also brought home a first and a second in the 400 metre, and another first in the 100 metre hurdles. Stuart Cameron earned a first and a second in the 3,000 metre, in the Junior Boys division. One of our best entrants was Janet Root in the Senior Girls division. She won the 3,000 metre run in opening day, and later gained a first in the 800 metre, and in the 1,500 metre. At SWOSSA she also placed third in the 3,000 metre. Walkerville's Junior Girls 400 metre relay team placed first at SWOSSA. Congratulations to all the team members.

... Where some of his best thinking is done.

This has been quite an experience! It's amazing what we can accomplish if we all pull together. The S.M.A. and S.A.A. helped out tremendously and I'd like to thank Len Munt and Pete Oksanen for all their help this year.

It was difficult breaking in a new administration. Mr. Lanspeary and Mr. Lozinski were very co-operative and enthusiastic with the Agora. I hope the future Agora will be able to work as well with them.

And then there's the Inner-executive. Quite a team, that was when I could tie Luca to a chair, stop Bobby from making jokes about the teachers and Stacey and Sue from making so much noise. Ruth was a real trophy. I couldn't have done it without her. I luv ya kid. I think we would have gone bankrupt if it wasn't for Jim Beluli's telling us how much we didn't have to spend. I hope Laurie Moluchi gets a chance to wear her Valentine's Day dress after all we heard about it.

Thanks to Mr. Bondy. He is the heart and soul of the Agora. Even though his blood pressure was unstable at times, he lasted another year. Thanks, Sir.

The students have to be commended for their spirit and involvement. If getting involved means cheering your team on to victory, becoming a stair-dweller, gabbing to your friend, doing "Maj"ic tricks, throwing fish, wearing designer Ebby-bibs, singing in the halls, or burning potatoes. That is what makes high school fun and memorable.

Have fun while it lasts. We'll have to mature sooner than we really want to. Last but not least, I'd like to thank all of my friends. I could never have done it without you. Thanks Cool Hand, Teen-age, Totes, Singy, Juice, Sky, Jimko, Hino, Spooner, The Driver, my dear friend Buckeye and especially Chester. Good luck to everyone. Don't go with the flow, go for what you know. You'll be a better and happier person for it.

Maybe I'll see you next year.

"Thanks for the

I'd like to begin by saying that this has been an exciting final year at Walkerville, working with old friends and making new ones in order to beat the rapid approaching deadline. We've all worked hard and given all we had to make this 1980-81 yearbook a special one.

Many thanks go to Mrs. PacUrar for her patience and at times her encouraging words. Thanks and gratitude are also in order for Nancy Zebeljan, co-editor and advertising editor. She gave up many of her nights helping to put this book together and hopefully now she will have time to go to the movies.

I'd like to thank all of my editors, Mary Kovacic, Christine Cameron, and Ann Lamos. They did a great job.

Ed Kim has been a hard worker developing great pictures to help me beat the deadline. And how can I forget Kevin Washbrook who went through so much. He put up with my nagging and constantly asking, "Have you got any pictures for me?" And Kevin, you did a great job, despite what you think. Everybody would be looking at blank pages, if it were not for Kevin and Ed.

Thanks to my sister Laura and my close friends Trish and Anne for helping with odds and ends and for putting up with me all this time. Also to all my teachers who put up with my missing classes this year and the secretaries for bothering them. SPECIAL THANKS to my staff and everyone who helped on the yearbook including Zora and Gabe Toth. I hope this book gives everyone as much joy reading it as it gave us making it.

Catch that pose!

"Togetherness" is the feeling among the Speleunkers during their trip to West Virginia. This self-sufficient group raised all of their own money through chocolate bar sales, carnation sales on Valentine's day, activity nights, a talent night and a dance marathon. This paid for their seven night and eight day stay. Over this time, this group of young geologists did not only cave climb, they climbed up cliffs, went on hikes and everyone shared in cooking, doing the dishes and participating in sports. People depend on each other and everyone contributes to make the trip.

Gee Mario, your eyes look even nicer close-up!

 PRES' DESK

Holy Mackerel! W.A.N.G.G.I.T. is back in action. I thought it was great that everyone came out and cheered our team onto victory over Kennedy. To all you Mad Bombers in the corner: Keep up the good work.
 The Activity Day last Friday was a total success. The SAA handled everything very efficiently. Thank you Guys.
 Punk Day turned out rather well.
 On a lighter note, the school year is more than half over so keep working (and playing) hard till June.

A QUEBEC

On Thursday, January 29, it all began: the incredible journey.
 Mr. Bondy and his family, Miss Proulx, and Zilda McKelvie took forty Walkerville French Students to Québec City. That day was only one of four beautiful, exciting days in our own little world.

After our first sampling of fine
 French cuisine, Mr. Bondy arranged a skating and tobogganning party.

Friday morning, we were all up early again, to check out the skiing at Mt. Ste Anne de Beauprés.
 The downhill turned out to be spectacular. The runs were long and well-kept, and the view was awesome. The cross-country trails were gorgeous, and the scenery lovely.

A tour of Le Grand Théâtre was scheduled for Saturday morning. It was quite impressive, especially for anyone working in the play. Mr.
 Bondy then took us to see the Ice Statues that people were making for Le Carnaval. That evening was the game between the Nordiques and the Islanders.

On Sunday morning, we had arranged to cross the St. Lawrence to Lévis. Although some ended up at the Plains of Abraham, looking for the St. Lawrence, most of us made it to the boat.

We all owe Mr. Bondy a debt of gratitude for a wonderful trip that we'll always remember.

Blue Beefs

Dear Stairdwellers:

Many girls at this school would like to voice their opinions about the stairdwellers that hang out on the landing between the new gym and the cafeteria during the lunch periods. It seems that every day there's a larger crowd of "Walkerville Studs" to rate the girls coming up from lunch and add on obscene comment or two. If you're trying to impress us you're going about it the wrong way and we don't appreciate it. After four months of degrading girls you must have super egos! Do you get your kicks and enjoyment in this manner?
 Well, we're all rather tired of it.
 One day we'll beat you to the stairs and landing and hurl insults at you.
 Woman with unspeakable wrath.

EXAM BLUES

Well, kiddies, exams are soon to be thrust upon us. It will be apparent, from the look of terror on everyone's face on Monday morning, that all have dutifully set aside several hours every night for the past three weeks to study. Terrified, but smart!

As you read this article and those knots in your belly begin to grow, and to tighten, and you run for the pacifying influence of a bag of chocolate cookies, the clock is mercilessly ticking away. Minutes turn into hours, my friends, hours into days, then nights, and suddenly you look up from the T.V. and realize that it's 2:00 on a beautiful Sunday afternoon. You go over all those useful little time-wasters. You have already been to Church.
 You have already raked the leaves. Don't kid yourself.
 Sure, you spent last night hitting the books. But you didn't study - you just stared at the notes, glassy-eyed, and hit them, for five hours. No, your subconscious was not at work - and neither was that theory.

Of course, there are the occasional brilliant students (the brilliant ones who stud-died) whom you'll quiz thirty seconds before the exam "to see if they know their stuff."
 But please, I beg of you, don't give yourself an ulcer. Instead of saying, "I'm doomed!" try looking toward the brighter side of the rainbow and declare,
 "I'll do better next time!"

P.S. GOOD LUCK (and study).

This year's fashion show was a great success and a source of pride to our school. The show was organized by Jennifer Holmes and her right-hand person, Liz Tinning. Of course, we cannot forget the dedication on Mr. Bondy's part either.

Our special thanks go out to Jennifer, Liz, and Mr. Bondy for providing us with this fashion bonanza, and also to all the models who showed the garments so beautifully.

WE HAVE THE WRITE TO BE

REMEMBER

Moonlight reflects from the water to my eyes.
A ripple from a tired breeze sounds, and only one light shines across the lake.
The sharp hoot of an owl,
distracts me from my thoughts.
Lifting my head, I can't remember
What I was thinking.
A tear drop falls to my cheek . . .
And suddenly, every moment we ever had together comes back.
All the walks through the parks,
And the late night talks by the fire.
If memories can come back . . .
Why can't you?

Marisa Reboulis

CHANGED

It's difficult now
To be the same
To live unchanged
When things
Just aren't the same.
The world is clear
But I can't see
Sight is obscure
Through eyes
That aren't the same
My mind is fogged
With thoughts and dreams
Confusing me
My life is scratched
Across a patched
And worn reality
It has changed
It is time for me
To try my wings
And follow my dreams . . .

— Laurie Moluchi

A CALL FOR LOVE

A slamming door on hinges breaks,
From which a drastic fight takes place.
Within a house not far from hell
From where the children hide in shells,
Wanting to scream, afraid to cry
Being tangled in a string of lies.
No one seems to care about,
The feelings that she starts to shout.
"Will this fighting ever end!"
"Will the sore spots ever mend!"
She reaches to the sky above
Then she begins her call for Love.

— Simone Nunn

Walking, troubled with abrupt questions
For what am I destined?
Confused, restless, exhausted and bored,
I found the answer, it's the Lord.

Listen my friend,
Think of Him above,
He cares for us,
God is Love.

He was temped and tried,
He had a life without lie,
With all His honour and glory,
He lived a wondrous story.

Listen my friend,
Think of Him above,
He cares for us,
God is Love.

A crown of thorns, 'round His head,
Hanging by nails, His blood was shed,
He died for us, so that we might live,
(Give my life, what more can I give?)

Listen my friend,
Think of Him above,
He cares for us,
God is Love.

I've found what I was looking for,
I looked beyond, and there was more,
Than living by rules and going to church,
I found Jesus and ended my search.

— Zora Cuckovic

CREATIVE!

OH, HOW I WISH . . .

Did I imagine everything before?
Or is it I just thought that there was more?
People you looked up to and thought were great
Have fallen below the standards of being first rate,
A mixture of emotions: confusion and anger,
Wondering how friends have become strangers,
That feeling of closeness has now died,
And the remaining unanswered question is why?
What hurts the most is remembering what used to be,
And knowing that those same things won't happen again to me.
But danger lies in living in the past
Since living in the present is the only thing that lasts.
Change is something very hard to accept
But who's to say it might not be for the best,
It's sad what hate does for one,
It involves them in a game that is never won,
A comfort is kind people who come to your aid
And help those painful memories go away,
And the special thing that makes you cope
Is the precious commodity called hope
Oh, how I wish the old days had stayed Since everything on the horizon looks so gray.

— Barb Baca

"TIME"

What is this thing called time that seems to run the world? Who dares to explain why? Who really cares? They're all so young at mind . . . they don't realize that there's more to life than what they find. Such silly people, living in their steeple of time, always worrying, always wondering what will be, when they don't even know what it is they see. Living in expectations of what's to come and memories of what's been done, they never take time to live in today. They're caught in a terror of time where nothing every rhymes. Can't they see this doesn't have to be, that they could be free? But here they still sit in their steeple so high, watching their lives pass them by.

Look at the fools, always on the go, not seeing what life has to show, and always worrying about . . . the time that's running out!

A CHILD

His first breath,
His initial cry,
It's a hell of a world,
But I guess he'll try,
His mother's eyes,
His father's smile,
It's tough at first,
But it's worth the while.

He cuts a tooth,
He starts to walk,
Before you know it,
He tries to talk.

His mother's joy,
His father's pride,
They'll always be there,
To love and guide.

He starts his school years,
He learns to read,
A favourite teacher,
She sows the seed.

His mother's patience,
His father's wisdom,
These gifts of parenthood,
Will always be with him.

His first puppy love,
He fights with his friends,
This is only the beginning,
Not nearly the end.

His mother's baby,
His father's son,
His growing takes forever,
And will never be done.

His first high school dance,
He chooses his date,
His parents warn him,
Try not to be late.

His mother's helper,
His father's right hand,
He gains his maturity,
He's now a young man.

He graduates from high school,
And moves on into college,
Expanding his horizons,
And gaining new knowledge.

His mother's tears,
His father's pain,
Trying to keep him at home,
Results only in vain.

For now he's a man,
In the world on his own,
Living life his way,
To remain or roam.

A Poem For You

When things go wrong,
And times are bad
And when you're feeling lonely and sad
You need someone to make you feel new Just call my name, I'll come to you.
And if ever you are in doubt
About what is in and what is out
What is up and what is down
I'll come to you from any town.
If you're not sure which way to go
Just come to me, I'll let you know
And if you need someone to help you
Drown your sorrows or laugh with you
Just let me know and I'll be there
You'll know it's me by my corkscrew hair.
If years from now we should meet
In a house or on the street
And if you don't know what to say
I'll understand — It's just your way

Nancy Hillis

Like the dawn
I try to fill you with sunshine
But like the sun
I fade into the shadows
Too easily replaced by something else
The grey of dusk.

—Kelly A. Webster

A PIECE OF ADVICE

Receive the oceans, the soft silk sand,
Uniqueness come out of your wonderland.
Go out and find to learn your angles,
Do right, be strong, the knots untangle.
Follow your heart and use your mind,
Do the job that God had assigned.
Know your potential and then endeavour,
Labour hard, undergo the pain endured forever.
Pass the disarranged and persist without a plea,
Never stop your pace, keep your truth for sanctity.
Don't dare to surrender, don't hazard to cease,
Bear in mind that the wrong will right, the war will peace.
Encounter warmth, the truce of enchanted passion unsurpassed,
Hasten to reach their depths, good things never last.
Upon reaching destination, all goals will have been met,
Judgement's accepted, composure undiminished with not a single regret.
The scorches will fade with the pity to be replaced with faith and serenity,
Falling into eternity to sleep evermore in tranquility.

MEMORIES

I remember the day I met you,
The day God made you mine,
I remember the day I lost you,
I will till the end of time.
Among the tears and heartaches,
There's one thing that makes me glad,
That you chose me to share with you,
Those memories are with me now,
But they make me feel so blue;
I didn't want the memories, I only wanted you.

I stood right there beside you,
and watched our romance part.
When I finally saw you leaving,
It really broke my heart.

My heart still aches with sadness,
My eyes shed many tears,
Only God knows how much I miss you,
And wish that you were here.

Marisa Reboulis.

DESTINY

Sins of the past only reflect ones vision of the future,
When the illusion dies,
It will be taken with sorrow, grief and ultimately pain,
But the tedious doings of the past lie unrevealed.
Scarred for life the man wanders endlessly,
A creation of the mind running wild,
To a poor soul the memories are read as a book,
Page after page he is soiled with the plagues of the past,
And the disgust of the future,
for the roaring of the fire,
And for the dousing of the flames.
The blind man does not know himself,
He is mindlessly drawn forward,
But in his mind there is tranquility,
A place where he can relate to himself,
But the visions that he sees are devastating,
To be over-powered by ones own mind,
To be lost in ones own self,
Is a feeling I shall not possibly know.

Steve Hnidei

ASKING FOR SOMEONE

Girls are something funny
They never count on you
But when it comes to loving
They always shine like new Boys are something steady
They always come out strong
But when it comes to talking
It always comes out wrong
And as these two are growing
Their cautious minds aware
And always they are showing
The drastic need to share
There is but one thing wrong with them
Their feelings never show
For if they hide their feelings
The happiness will go
Some try and show how they feel
Some are too shy to care
But when it comes to loving
A special friend is there!

—Simone Nunn

The hate billows up—
From the black lapping waves of my subconsciousness,
Like disturbed sand
From the ocean floor.

Will I be pulled in—
Down that dark and endless spiral,
An insignificant speck of dust
Lost forever!

—Kelly A. Webster

IN EVERY WAY

Always on my mind
Trying to find
How it came about
Always having doubts.
Every moment you were alert
Now to watch it only hurts.
What is the cure?
I'm not sure
If only I had the chance to say
I'm sorry in every way.

—Barb Baca

From Once Upon a Time

From once upon a time,
I looked upon the earth,
With questioning eyes so full of delight,
I patiently waited for wonders to befall my sight.

Upon the world I gazed
And watched so closely to see,
What beautiful landscapes I should behold
Too glorious for me to believe.

I saw babbling brooks passing me by,
Telling stories to the speckled shores,
And a gentle, strolling breeze
So cautious when rustling the colourful leaves.

I saw grasses swaying so free in the wind,
Passing happiness to the hills beyond,
And birds singing their songs of praise
Their voices to the heavens with joy did they raise.

So carelessly fluttered the golden leaves
Upon the fields so lush and green,
The enchanting air was so milk and sweet,
That I felt no obstacles could I ever meet.

Such a dream land was this,
Full of heavenly bliss.

I collected my thoughts, all were retrieved,
But could it be true? Must I leave?

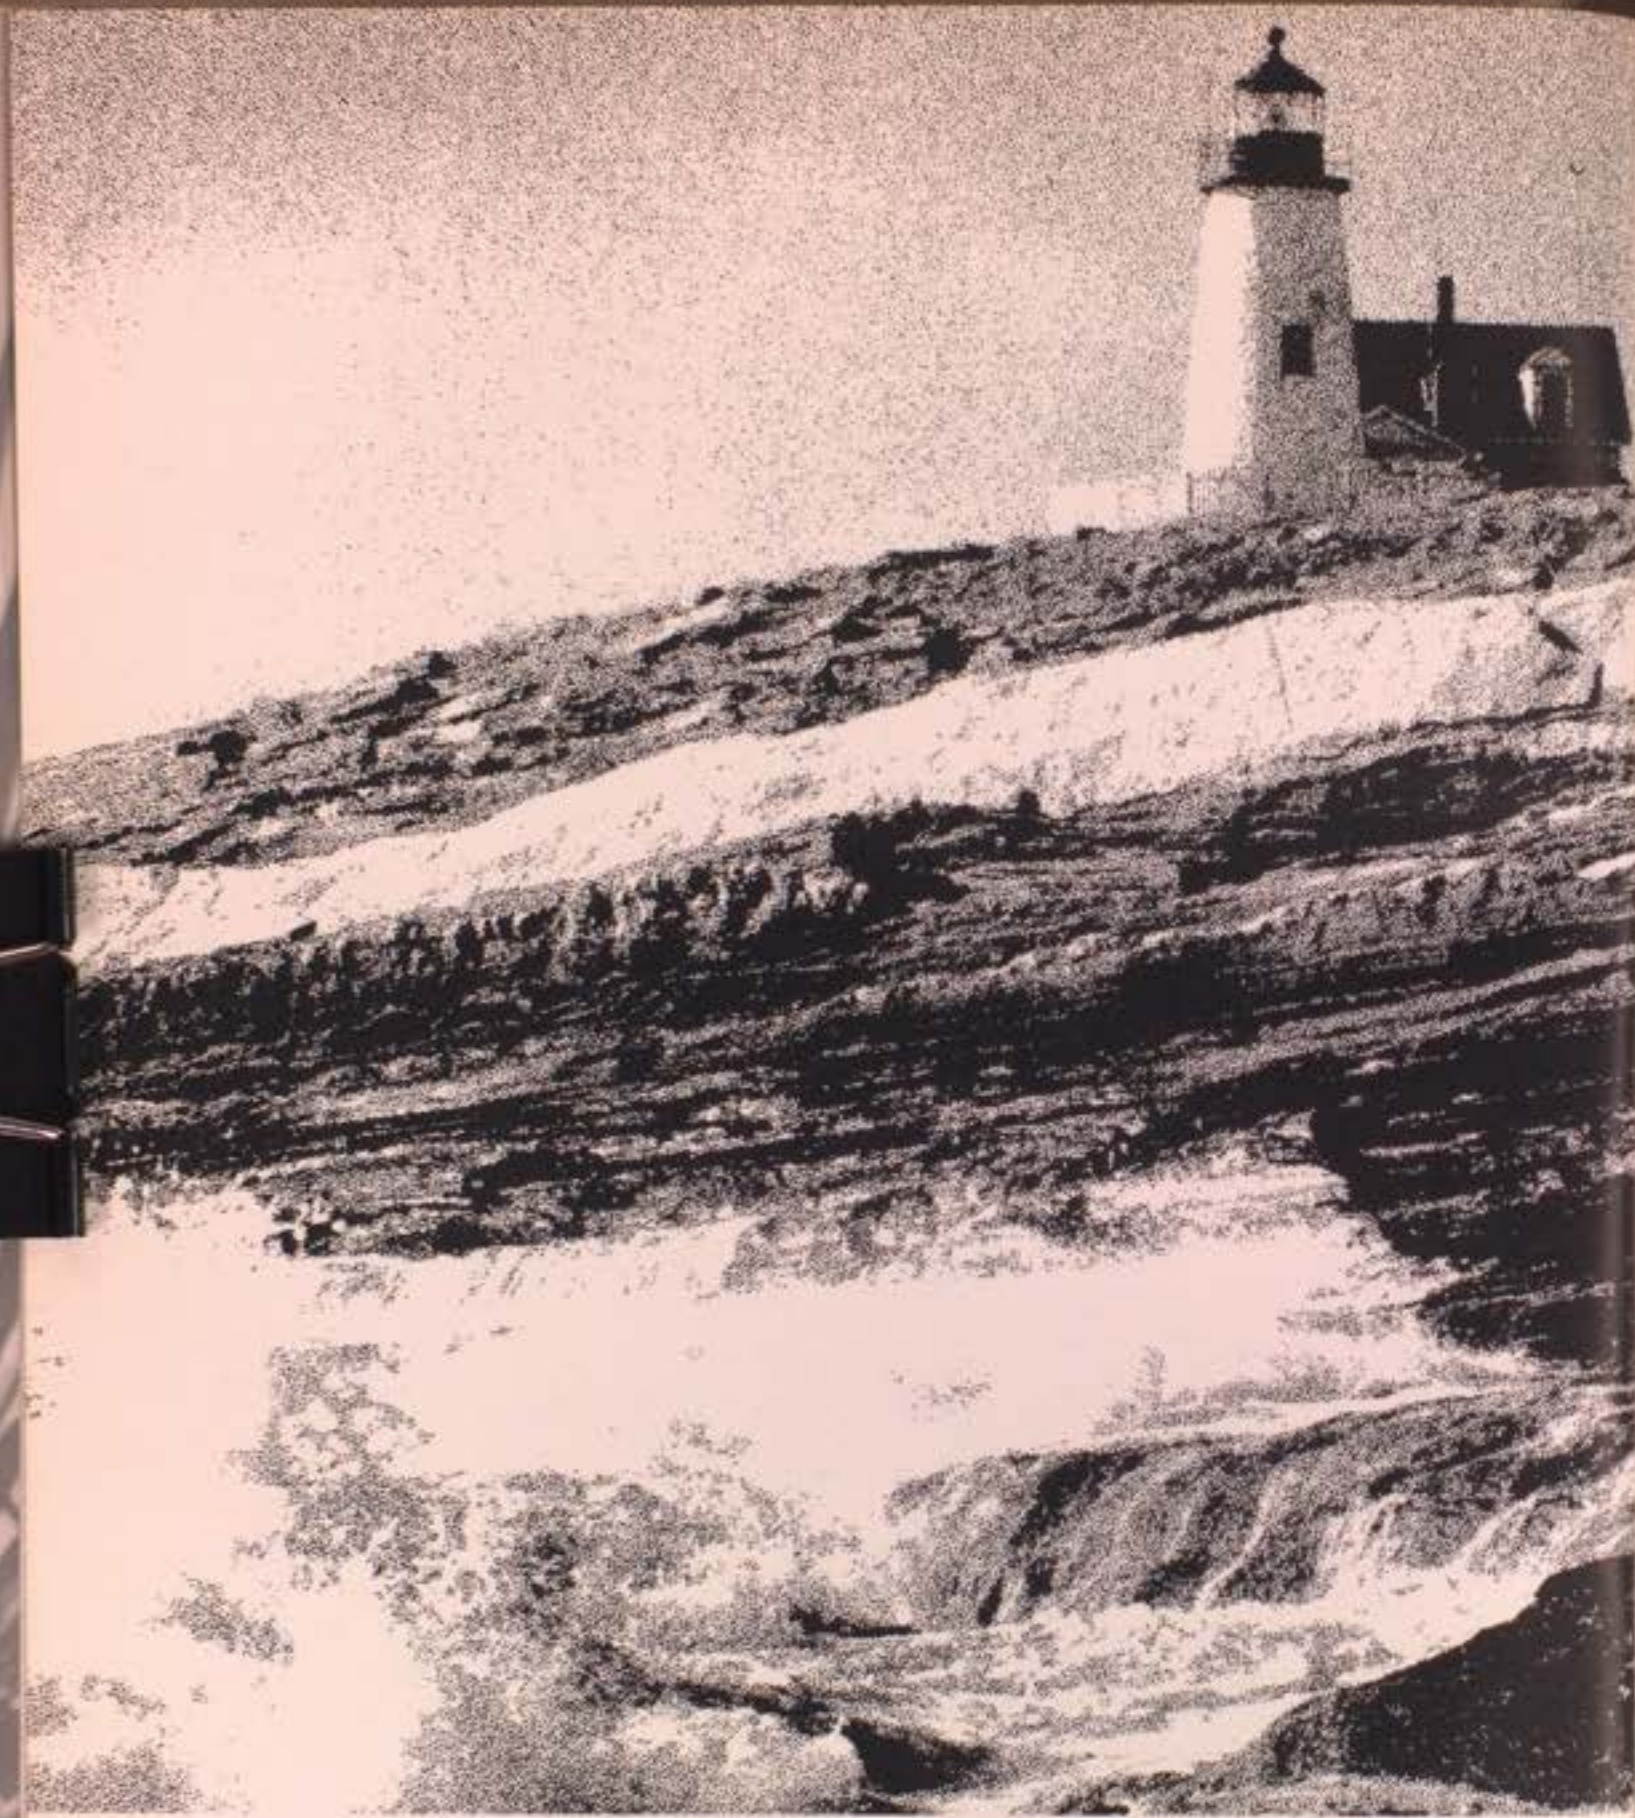

But shy must I leave? . . . Remember . . . I came from once upon a time.

By Gizella Ilona Orosz

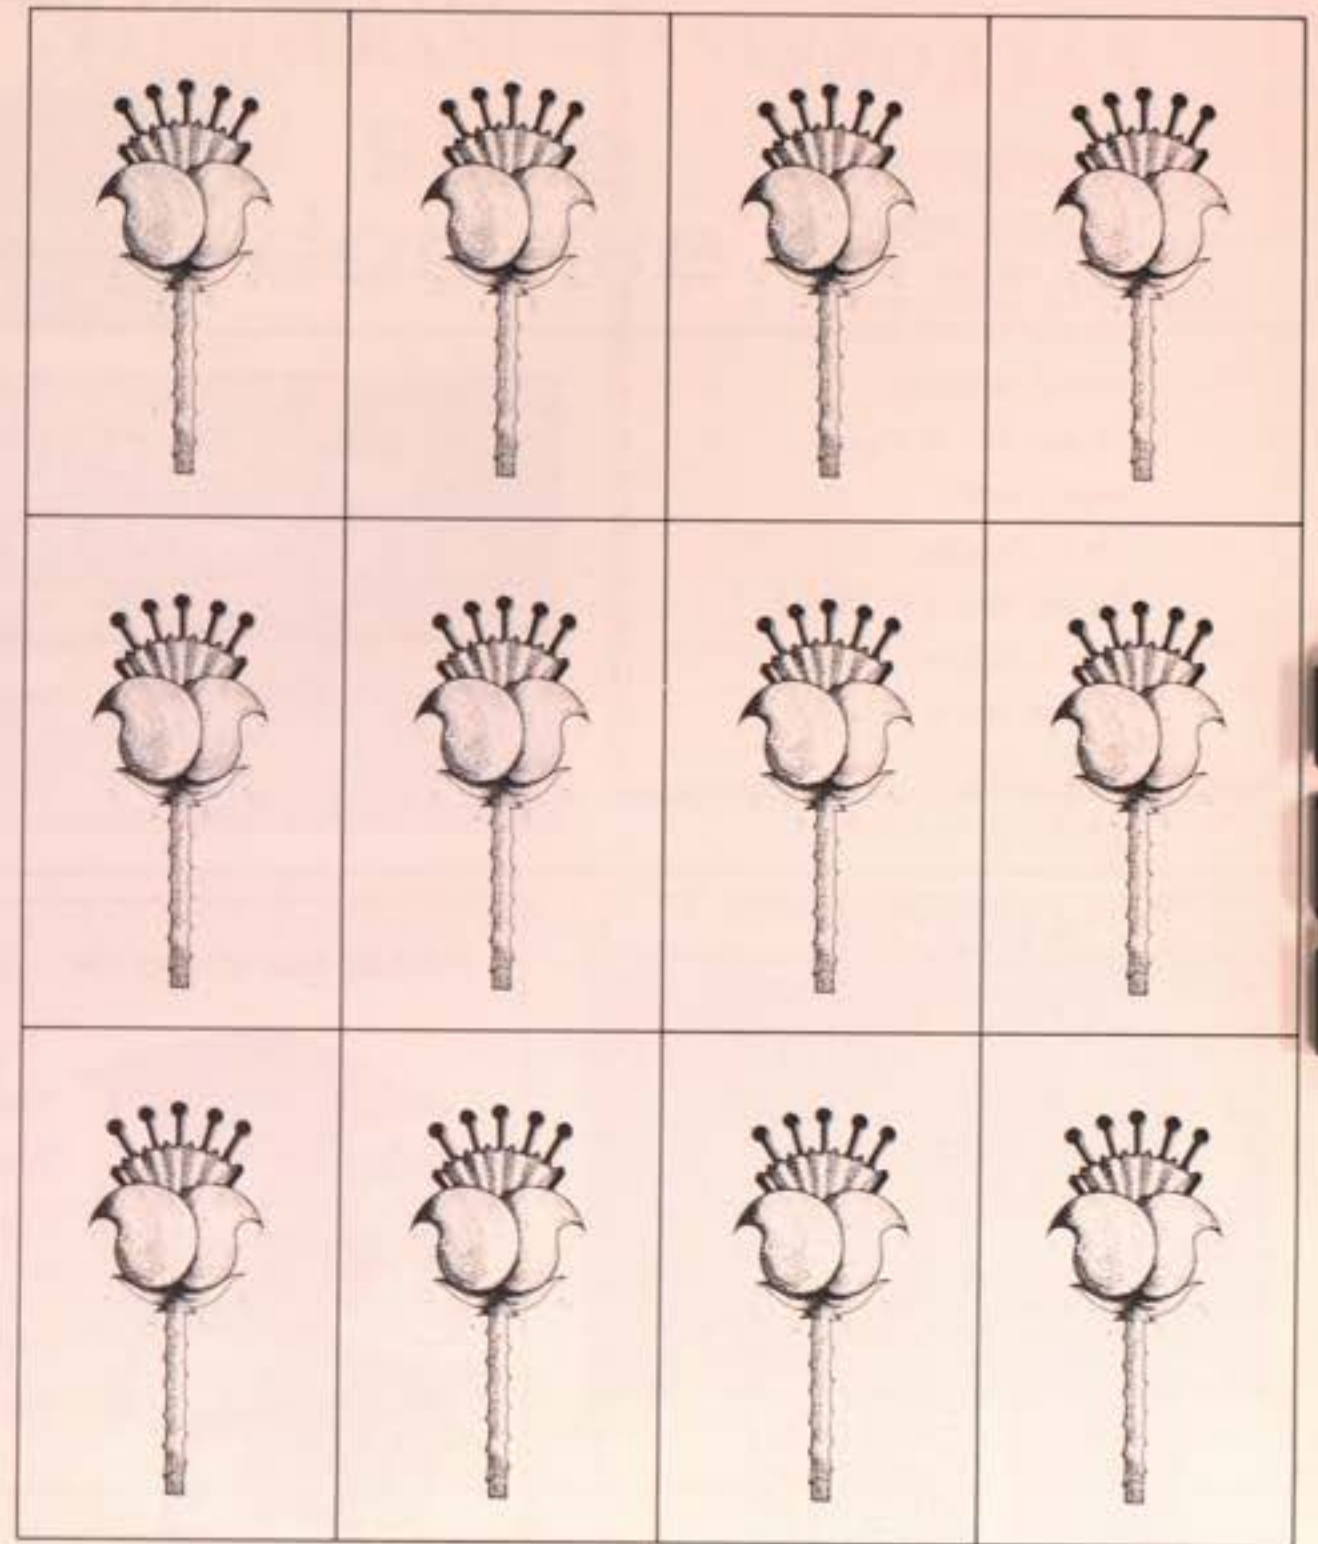

The Dreams of a Doll

In her fairytale land, where nothing is real, she hides all her worries and all that she feels.
Where dreams become reality, and the birds sing her song,
in her own "never — never land" where nothing is wrong,
Where puppets can talk, and all that she sees, is her mind's own illusion of what she wants to be.
So secure and protected from all that she fears, bathing in the waters of make-believe tears.
Where raindrops are golden and illusions come true, all hate is destroyed and everything's new.
Where the teddy bears dance and the tin soldiers pace,
in her own "never — never land", her own secret place,
And day after day this fantasy goes on,
as she sits on the shelf from dusk to dawn,
All the while hoping that maybe some day,
the little girl will take her down to play.
