Blue and White!

Above: Wild and fun buddies in blue. Amanda, Cat and Shannon hangin' in the hall.

Above: Talk to the forehead 'cuz you ain't got no spirit!

Left: I know something you don't know! Sophia has a secret!

Above: Who made Meagan take out the garbage?

Above: Go Jen! Go Jen! She definitely has spirit, maybe a little too much! Just Kidding.

Left: "It's all about the plaid." Rob knows what he's talking about!

Above: Danica Has spirit, even if is a little wild!

Hats, Hats, Hats!

Above: You know I'm funny, the hat proves it!

Above: Doesn't my hat make you happy?

Above: Model material. Abir is ready for the runway.

Give blood! Save a Life!

PJ Day "Zzzzz....."

Above: I'm the man! I gave blood!

Above: "We're losing him, we're losing him!" Matt and Mike play their parts well.

Above: "I see London, I see France, I see Meagan's under pants!"

Above: Hey! Just because it's PJ Day doesn't mean you can sleep in the hall!

Trick or Treat

Above: Ah Krikee, or is it Hee Haw? Meagan and Seanna sure are....?

Above: "We're down wit it!" Two punks and a lady.
Left: "I'd like 2 burgers and a Coke please. Oh wait! Sorry Lauren!"

Above: "We all need just a little more peace." Thanks man.

Left: Brittany Spears, the devil, a rockstar and a farmer. Who says we aren't diverse?
Above: " Boo! Did we scare you?" Just a scary bunch hanging in the cafe.

Eliminating growling stomachs the world over!

Above: Food and friends, what could be better?

Above: "Separating the men from the boys." Jon, Adam and Richard have got it all together.....we think!

Above: Flying food! Hope Jessie catches it!

Above: Friendly elves encourage the workers.

Above: Jen could be in a commercial!

Above: "Look I'm helping!" Great job Ms. Baker!

Above: The elves get crazier every year!

Do you still believe in Santa?

OOPS... you blinked!

Semi Formal

Above: "Am I supposed to lead?" Jeremy and Morgan burst into giggles moments after being crowned prince and princess.

Above: Was 'up?! Moments after mugging some poor guy.

Above: She's all mine fellas! Jeremy exclaims as he pulls his date Anna close.

Above: My, what big teeth you have! Ally and Sarah flash us their award winning smiles.

A Night to Remember!

Above: Don't think too hard! Max, John, Brock and Paul ponder what'd it be like to have facial hair.

Above: Dressed to impress Erika and Adam.

Above: Uhhh, where's the other guys? Tim looks not too comfortable standing with good buds Candice and Caroline.

COMMUNITY LIVING

The 15th Anniversary

This year marks the 15th anniversary of the Community Living Program being based at Walkerville C.I. When the program emigrated from Alicia Mason Elementary School under the tutelage of William Lamb, the staff consisted of 12 members and 35 students. At its peak, in the mid 90's, under the leadership of Janet Mariotti, the program enlisted 17 staff and 65 pupils. In 1997, forty percent of the programs' personnel transferred to Vincent Massey S.S. to initiate a new program at that institution. Presently, with Janet Mariotti still at the helm, the Community Living program at Walkerville C.I. comprises of 12 staff and 31 students.

Special Olympics

Special People!

The students in the Community Living Program represented Walkerville Collegiate Institute in a variety of events.

All of the athletes had the opportunity to participate in the Ontario Special Olympic Region 31 Competitions. The bowling events took place on February 26, 2002 at Rose Bowl Lanes. The qualifying swim meet occurred on May 10, 2002 at the Sherk Complex in Leamington. The main gala, being the Track and Field and Swim Meets, was held at the University of Windsor from May 22-24. All of the Olympians gave their best effort which resulted in two medals at the U. of W. swim meet; 1st place for Kyle Fox and 2nd place for Sandra Stanish in their respective age groups.

Aside from athletics, pupils placed W.C.I. in good stead with respect to community awareness. During autumn and spring, Group 1 cleaned the beach "SANCTUARY" at Pt. Pelee National Park twice each season. Also, the group participated in the Festival of Enchantment held at the Art Gallery of Windsor during the Christmas holiday by decorating a Christmas tree depicting the country of Italy. On April 26, 2002, Groups 2 and 3 joined in the city-wide Earth Week clean-up by removing refuse from the grounds of the school and Willistead Park. Finally, on May 29, one-half of the athletes participated in the Special Olympic Torch Run fundraising affair which brought them through several towns in Essex County.

In closing, the students in the Community Living Program at Walkerville Collegiate Institute were true TARTANS.

WINDSOR CENTRE FOR THE CREATIVE ARTS- 2001/02

MESSAGE FROM THE PROGRAM DIRECTOR:

This year was as eventful a year as any at WCCA.. The new students entering the program were, as always, a boost to the quality of the performances. This year had an extra added feature in the first-ever exchange of WCCA students with students from another country. This past fall, 16 students and 2 teachers came from Italy on a cultural and educational exchange. They stayed for 8 days, billeting with our students. They then went on to Toronto, Niagara, and Ottawa. Unfortunately, they got caught up with the tragic attack on the WTC in NYC and were blocked from any activities in Detroit. They did enjoy our city and region and we look forward to returning the visit to Italy in September, 2002. Our musical, GREASE, was a resounding success. Thanks to Mr. Lewsaw and his performers and crew for doing such a great job. All the performances during the year were wonderful as usual- thanks to the staff for doing such a great job preparing the performers. Due to Board travel restrictions, our WCCA trip was limited to a long weekend in Toronto attending a vocal workshop, the Musical, MAMMA MIA, the Randolph Academy of Dance, and the Ontario Gallery of Art and the R.O.M.. Students also attended a staging of the LION KING in Toronto and were involved in the Wayne State University dance workshop. Thanks to all the performance fundraising, we were able to replace all the pianos in the piano lab. We are looking forward to next year's first time staging by a school group of the musical, LES MISERABLES. I want to again thank the staff, the office staff, the students, Vice Principal-Mr. Antaya, and especially our retiring Principal-Ms. Beatty (who was such a strong supporter of WCCA) for their efforts on behalf of arts education at Walkerville.

Sincerely,

Mr. Vacratsis- Head of WCCA

2001-02 has been a great year, not only because of the students but also because of the dedicated staff. New faces to the school have brought new energy and familiar faces have given a sense of continuity and stability. Activities which make school life more enjoyable cannot take place without teacher advisors, coaches and sponsors. The school cannot run smoothly without its support staff. Thanks to all the staff for making Walkerville the wonderful place it is. Best of luck to those retiring from the Walkerville staff.

EARTH WEEK

SPORTS & CLUBS

Curling

WCI was represented by two fine teams in the elite league with skip Tim Petrimoulx almost taking his boys' team to the semifinals and Brianne Langlois skipping her girls' team to an eventual WECSAA championship.

Strengthened by rookie curler and Coach's Award winner, Kevin Heffernan, playing lead, the boys' team showed but never reached its full potential. To be a winner at this level requires a tremendous amount of commitment and hours of practice. This became increasingly more apparent as the season progressed. Next year brings on promise as the core of the team returns for another season.

The girls' team went through a mid-season shuffle as veteran Amanda Salden graduated and was replaced by "B" Division rookie player and Coach's Award winner, Stacey Graham.

A True Tartan Sport!

Brianne Langlois took over skip's position from veteran Jen Robinson with the intention of gaining experience for next year. However, the new team chemistry successfully took the team through playoffs and into the championship. Continuing on to SWOSSA in Sarnia, the girls lost a very close match in the opening round

Girls' Basketball

After a one year hiatus, 2001-02 was a building year for the junior girls' team. Winning three regular season games, and placing third in the C.C.I. Invitational Tournament has set the team on a winning course. With 6 of 12 players eligible to return for the 2002-03 season, there are great expectations for future success.

Congratulations to Katie Soulliere (captain) and Alisha Jacobs for making the "Future All Stars" team. Both ladies, as well as Salwa Najm, Lezith Cuevas, Sophorn Mak, and Karen McArthur will be advancing to the senior team next season. These players will certainly be welcome additions to the senior team. Although great effort was put forth by all players, Soda Moun was our most improved player this year. We are looking forward to next season.

Boys' Basketball

This year's senior boys' basketball team had a great lineup of O.A.C. students. More than half of the team was represented by final year students. The team had a lot of potential and high expectations. At times, the team looked great but were unable to pull through and get the wins needed to gain a playoff berth. Although they did not have a very successful season it made for a lot of fun in ending high school basketball for all the seniors participating.

The junior boys had a great season this year despite what their record leads us to believe. They were a very exciting squad, the games were fast paced and filled with high-lights. There was a dedicated group of boys on this year's team that will undoubtedly develop into future successes. Many grade nine students had the opportunity for a lot of playing time on this year's team which will prove to be great experience in future years as Tartan ball players.

Junior Boys' Volleyball

Confidence was never lacking and the enthusiasm was forever present as the junior boys completed their more successful seasons in recent history. Anchored by the strong attack of all-round athlete Chris Durocher, the solid serving of Danny Matijiw, the smooth setting of rookie David Yeang, the steady defence of libero John Thompson and the quiet leadership of Captain Ryan Cowan, the boys worked their way into a solid quarter-final playoff position before their season ended. Although somewhat short in stature, never was the team short of aggression and court discipline, against much taller and more experienced teams. This team will represent the core of next year's senior team which will once again be resurrected to represent WCI. With the experience gained this past year, the young Tartans look to be equally successful next season.

Parting Words.....

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the students and all the members of the Walkerville school community for a memorable three years in my educational career.

Walkerville is a very special place to learn - for all of us. It is a welcoming and caring school with a rich tradition, a very dedicated staff and a diverse, interesting and extremely creative student population. You are a fortunate indeed to be part of this.

I want to congratulate all of the students in our 2002 graduating class. You are well prepared for the next stage of your lives, whether it is post-secondary education or the world of work. My very best wishes to you as you pursue your dreams.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the hard work and commitment of editor Jess Parks, graphics designer Stefan Soc and Teacher Advisors Mrs. Baldo and Mr. Allison who made the production of this yearbook possible.

Sincerely,
Miss Beatty, Principal

A G O R A

This Year has been fun filled and exciting!! Agora couldn't have happened without so many great people. I really want to thank you all for what you did this year and a special thanks to Mr. Booth and Kristine, for you're help and support, I couldn't have done it without you! Walkerville is a great school and all the students help continue to make it great. Congratulations to Raewyn and good luck everyone next year. I hope you have as much fun and excitement as we did this year.

Tamsen Dipple
Agora Prime Minister

It is my distinct pleasure to write these words for the annual yearbook. As you turn the pages, you will note and remember the many activities that make Walkerville such a unique and dynamic secondary school experience. The variety of dramatic and musical productions, athletic activities, and student council events are only some examples of your commitment to the school. It is this obvious enthusiasm exhibited by the student body that has made my time here so enjoyable and memorable.

A huge thank you must be made to Jess Parks for your dedication in making this project come to fruition. Without your tireless efforts, this yearbook would not be possible. To all of you at Walkerville, I wish you the best. As you turn the pages of this yearbook, I hope that you are filled with fond memories of your contributions to your school.

Sincerely,
Mr. Antaya, Vice Principal

Walkerville Talent

Incensed

He says it's incense, burning in the corner, a faint gleam of gently smoldering embers glimpsed from the corner of gently smoldering eyes, and a wisp of fragrant smoke escaping from the diminutive flame, reaching upwards towards the cracked and stained ceiling yet never attaining the heights it desires, dissipating and hiding behind the air to avoid the tenuous situation. And him, dissipating before my eyes, hiding behind the memories, commenting on the inviting and comforting scent of warm spice as a faint tendril of smoke elicits tears from averted eyes, etching path of disappointment down burning cheeks.

Amanda Lucier

Ice

The stillness of winter is broken only by the soft scrape of steel blades on cold, clear ice. Ice, frosty and beautiful, yet unforgiving as rock makes stark contrast to the graceful form slipping across its surface, her body flowing to the rhythm of unheard music. She picks up speed and skims across the frozen lake, still with the soft scrape of the steel blades. Suddenly leaping, her spirit soars off into the starry sky, and once again all is still. The ice, cold and clear as ever, holds her thoughts in its undisturbed depths, and locks them away.

Dayna Cornwall

That Summer Afternoon

"Last winter was the winter of his house," she thought as she rolled her body out onto the grass, dew-soaked and squishy. Moisture was seeping into her clothing.

It was now summer, when freedom was sprung from every element on earth. Leaves mingled with air mingled with human thought; the girl stretched out on the damp ground.

She remembered last winter's grey cement porch, cold and hard. She had knocked frantically at his door, needing his face to appear in the window. But even after the door had been answered and she was nestled next to him on the couch, she could feel the cold porch below her feet and the unsympathetic glass door against her fist.

She shivered and he drew her closer, never as close as she'd have liked.

Another memory.

Later that day, he stood across from her. She was wrapped in blanket, sheltering herself. Not from him in particular. She sheltered herself from living.

He walked over to her, holding two mugs; handed one to her. She reached, grasping the mug, and drank the warm liquid eagerly. But the chill from the porch remained, and the boy was powerless.

Within his house, she liked to suppose that she was immune. She was safe; was taken care of. Within his house, she was free.

He told her she was beautiful. She blushed.

Then the snow melted.

Clad in an old brown sweater, sopping, she ran up the harsh steps and pounded on the glass door, shivering uncontrollable. He never came. He didn't even try to warm her.

Slowly, she crumpled and turned to face the street. There she sat like stone, motionless for what seemed like months. He had ceased to appear in the fogged window.

At last, the summer rain brought her back to the grassy hill.

The girl, who had surrendered herself to the breeze, the water, on that particular summer's afternoon.

Anna Atkinson

You'll Never Know

You walk over to me and ask me,

"How have you been?" Your brilliant blue eyes stare down into mine. I lose my breath, try to smile, and finally manage to mumble,

"I'm fine."

There is a very long awkward silence. My heart starts beating faster and louder. I'm almost sure you can hear it. I look down to ease the tension and pretend to be interested in a little blob of something stuck on my Biology textbook.

"Well, I guess I should go to class. Bye," you say, shattering the frail silence like it was a crystal champagne glass.

"B-bye," I stammer. I hesitate but then quickly step back. You turn and start off down the hall. My eyes start to burn and a lump forms in my throat. I look down. I desperately not to cry and desperately try to grasp my pride. I'm afraid that you will look back and see, in my eyes, that I'm still in love with you and that I'm still holding on to what we had when we were together. If it weren't for my pride, I would have told you when I had the chance. But now, I guess you'll never know.
